ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. — The trucking industry's contract talks have reached what Labor Secretary W.J. Usery calls "a critical stage" in the race against a Teamsters strike threatened for Wednesday midnight.

Usery and James Searce, acting director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, met all day Monday with labor and management negotiators and planned another session today.

Usery, who said a strike would be bad for the industry, the union and the nation, said late Monday that the talks were "at a very critical stage" but refused to elaborate on their progress.

The Teamsters, who earn $7.18 to $7.33 an hour and $44 a week in benefits under the current National Master Freight Agreement, originally sought a $2.50 hourly hike and $36 weekly more in benefits over three years. They have cut their demands to $1.75 an hour and $17 a week.

But the union is also insisting on a cost-of-living allowance without a ceiling on adjustments, arguing that members were penalized more than 50 cents hourly in 1974-75 wages because of the current 11-cent ceiling.

Last weekend, union members overwhelmingly authorized a strike, which would be the Teamsters' first nationwide walkout. They rejected a contract offer from Trucking Employers Inc., which represents 16,000 trucking concerns in the bargaining.

The offer, rejected by 10-1, would have added 85 cents to hourly wages and $11 a week to fringe benefits over a 39-month period.

The Ford administration fears that a strike idling the nation's trucks — and with them the movement of food, goods and heavy freight — would severely impair the progress being made in the nation's economic recovery.

Usery said, "We are not making any preparation at this time to seek a Taft-Hartley injunction. We're seeking to negotiate an agreement." But he added that "after Wednesday, the President and the administration will certainly have to protect the health and safety of the nation."

The Taft-Hartley Act could be invoked — in the event of a strike — to force resumption of work during an 80-day cooling-off period.

Another factor complicating efforts to head off a strike is the possibility of wildcat walkouts by dissident Teamsters.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh-based Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers, representing 5,000 owner-operators across the nation, voted to ignore a strike if one is called.

Defense Measures Stir Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger pitched for congressional approval of $1 billion in military aid to Turkey, President Ford used a Pentagon back-drop to warn Democrats he will veto the defense appropriation bill if they try to cut it.

Both got a mixed reaction.

Kissinger told the House International Relations Committee that failure to approve the four-year aid accord he signed last week would cause "irremediable damage to U.S.-Turkish relations." The accord provides for the reopening of 26 U.S. bases closed by Turkey last July in retaliation for a congressional arms embargo.

But Kissinger acknowledged that the accord, which will reopen bases used to monitor activities inside the Soviet Union, was not linked to settlement of the Greek-Turkish dispute over Cyprus. It was the Turkish invasion of Cyprus with the use of American-supplied weapons that led Congress to impose the Turkish embargo.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, said that without progress on the Cyprus issue, the accord and its $1 billion in Turkish military aid would face "a very uphill battle here."

Meanwhile, Ford used a Pentagon ceremony for former NATO ambassadors to attack Democrats who threaten to cut his defense budget requests.

In a campaign-style speech that administration sources admitted was aimed at his Republican opponent, Ronald Reagan, Ford said, "There is no room for major reduction" in his $114.7 billion defense budget and vowed to appeal to the people "on this life and death issue."

House Budget Committee Chairman Brock Adams, D-Wash., responded that Ford was not living in "the real world" and "just isn't being reasonable" by insisting Congress leave the record peacetime defense budget intact. But House Appropriations Committee Chairman George H. Mahon Jr., D-Tex., said Ford "has got the country on his side," and he said he opposes Adams' plan to pare $7.2 billion from Ford's request.

Ford Son Glad Nixon In Past

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — President Ford's son Jack says he was glad his father pardoned former President Nixon, because it spared the nation "two years of distractions."

"The quicker we can put Richard Nixon behind us, the better," the 24-year-old Ford told a group of high school students on Monday. Young Ford was stumping Wisconsin on behalf of his father's candidacy in the state's April 6 presidential primary.

Had his father not pardoned Nixon, Ford said, "we'd just have two years of distraction. If Richard Nixon had been going through a trial now, Patty Hearst would have been back page news."

"We know what Richard Nixon did. Let's put it behind us rather than getting bogged down in the hassle."

Southern Twisters Kill 11

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes have cut a swath of destruction across Arkansas and Mississippi, killing 11 persons, injuring more than 220 and leaving hundreds of others homeless.

State police said six persons were killed in Arkansas and more than 70 were injured. Five were killed and at least 150 were injured in Mississippi, state Civil Defense officials said.

"This is unbelievable, just unbelievable," said Arkansas Gov. David Pryor as he toured the devastated town of Cabot, hardest hit by the twisters that roared through the two Southern states Monday.

Five died in Cabot, a community in central Arkansas 20 miles northeast of Little Rock. The sixth victim in Arkansas was killed when a tornado struck the town of Dresco, about 100 miles north of Little Rock.

State police earlier said six persons had died in Cabot, but officials reported today that a man listed as dead was later found alive there.

Most of Cabot's business district was demolished, and state police said 65 buildings on an eight-block stretch of Main Street were either destroyed or heavily damaged.

In Mississippi, five persons were killed when a tornado tore through the town of Canton.

Mississippi National Guard troops joined local police late Monday in patrolling the debris-lined streets of Canton and enforcing the 10 p.m. curfew ordered to prevent looting of the town's demolished businesses.

In Arkansas, the Lonoke County sheriff's office said, "The whole main street of Cabot has been flattened."

The Arkansas governor, who arrived in Cabot a few hours after the tornadoes hit, ordered 60 National Guardsmen to the storm-ravaged town. Thirty-five Air Force security policemen and 40 state troopers were brought in to help sift through the debris, direct traffic and prevent looting.

Portable generators supplied electricity for rescue crews and other officials, and utility company crews worked to restore telephone, gas and electric service.

Cabot Mayor Willie Ray said he was at City Hall when the National Weather Service telephoned a warning about 3:15 p.m. Ray said he saw the tornado coming and told city officials to "blow the whistle," a warning device which can be heard several blocks from City Hall.

Ernie Bailey, 37, a Cabot real estate salesman, said he watched the tornado approach a school filled with children. Then, he said, the twister "just sort of hopped to the side of the school and went on by."

In Canton, an agricultural town of 10,000 about 20 miles north of Jackson, the tornado cut a five-mile-long swath through residential, business and industrial areas.

Another tornado touched down in the Mississippi town of Newton, injuring nine persons and damaging between 150 and 200 houses.

Thundershowers continued into the late nighttime hours from the middle and lower Mississippi Valley into northern Georgia and the western Carolinas. Rain fell early today from the Great Lakes through the eastern Ohio Valley into the middle Atlantic states.

The latest tabulation of severe weather on Monday showed 41 reports of tornadoes. They included 21 in Arkansas, 12 in Mississippi, two each in Tennessee, Oklahoma and Kansas, and one each in Illinois and Missouri.

Large hail and wind damage was common over a wide area reaching from the eastern portions of Kansas and Nebraska across the lower half of the Mississippi Valley in to the central and eastern Gulf states.

Flash flood watches were in effect for parts of Kentucky and Tennessee and for portions of Virginia and West Virginia.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 75 at Brownsville, Tex., and Key West, Fla., to 15 at Laramie, Wyo.

'Cuckoo's Nest' Takes Oscars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," a movie whose message of hope and perseverance has special meaning to the people who fought for 15 years to get it made, became the first film since 1934 to sweep the four most prestigious Academy Awards.

"Cuckoo's Nest" was named best picture of the year.

Jack Nicholson, as the leader of a rebellious group of mental hospital inmates, and Louise Fletcher, as the strong-willed nurse who keeps them in line, won the top acting Oscars for 1975. Milos Forman was named best director. In addition, Lawrence Hauben and Bo Goldman took best screen adaptation honors at the 48th annual presentations Monday night.

"To anybody who's got a dream and there's a possibility that it's not going to be a reality, just hang on, it'll be all right," said "Cuckoo's Nest" coproducer Michael Douglas, accepting the Oscar for best picture. That was the message of the film and of making the film.

Comedian George Burns, 80, became the oldest actor ever to win an Oscar. His supporting performance in "The Sunshine Boys" was his first motion picture part in 37 years. Lee Grant, whose NBC television series "Fay" was canceled three weeks after it debuted last fall, was named best supporting actress for her role as an adulteress in "Shampoo."

"It Happened One Night," with Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, was the only other film to walk off with the top Academy Awards, in 1934.

Douglas' father, actor Kirk Douglas, tried to turn Ken Kesey's novel of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" into a movie 15 years ago, but he was never able to get the project off the ground. Michael got interested in it five years ago and with coproducer Saul Zaentz fought to get financial backing amid a widely held feeling that the project couldn't be a success because it was depressing and dealt with crazy people.

Their dream paid off and so, in other ways, did those of Miss Fletcher, Nicholson and Forman.

Health, Safety Bills In Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House was expected to vote today on a bill aimed at increasing early detection of uterine cancer in women.

The legislation, sponsored by Rep. Francine Panehal, D-5 Cleveland, would require all Ohio hospitals to offer pap smears to female in-patients who are over the age of 20.

State senators began a full week of legislative activity Monday night, approving 29-0 a measure that would extend 20 mile-per-hour speed zones for 300 feet beyond school property lines. Current law imposes the 20 mile-per-hour limit where streets cross school boundaries.

"Since this legislation may some day save the lives of our school children, I urge your support," said Sen. Morris M. Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, a cosponsor and chairman of the Education Committee.

By 28-0 vote, the Senate also approved and sent to the House a measure that would require future commercial, industrial and residential construction with more than three units to comply with energy conservation standards.

Sponsor Donald L. Woodland, D-16 Columbus, said the initial increase in construction costs would be offset within three years by fuel savings.

Woodland said the Ohio Building Standards board had already developed guidelines for insulation and windows, but needed legislative authority to mandate the standards.

Senators backed 29-0 and sent Gov. James A. Rhodes a bill extending from 20 to 40 days the deadline for filing of writen candidacies prior to an election. The legislation also applies to slates of electors for presidential candidates.

Senate sponsor Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, said the filing deadline had to be pushed back 20 days to allow more time for financial disclosures by candidates. Butts said also that boards of elections needed more time to adjust ballots for write-in candidacies.

A Senate Ways and Means Committee subcommittee plans today to tackle a sweeping measure designed to offset sharp property tax increases after reappraisals. Chairman Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, says she hopes to have the House-approved bill ready for floor action by mid-April.

Bandits Rob Congregation

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two bandits robbed 12 churchgoers of $500 in cash and an undetermined amount of jewelry Sunday, while the worshipers prayed for the robbers' forgiveness.

Police said the robbers interrupted a hymn service at the First Baptist Church. The bandits both wore ski masks and one was identified as a woman.

They directed everyone to freeze and collected wallets, jewelry and watches, authorities said. A 12-year-old West Toledo girl, Holly King, was briefly taken hostage, but was released unharmed outside the church, according to an account.

There were no injuries, according to reports.

One churchgoer said that during the robbery members of the congregation prayed and asked forgiveness for the robbers. According to a churchgoer, one of the robbers responded, "Believe it or not, I believe in God too."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pulled back today in a continuation of the profit taking that set in on Monday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped about a point in the early going, and declines took a broad lead over advances among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said many would-be buyers had stepped back in the belief that the market had lost its upward energy for the moment.

Some brokers also suggested that renewed civil conflict in Lebanon had put investors on their guard.

Today's early prices included Warnaco, down 1/4 at 10 3/4; AMP, up 1/4 at 31 3/4; Chemical New York, off 1/4 at 36 1/2; and J. Walter Thompson, down 1/4 at 11 1/2.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 6.60 to 997.40, ending a three-day stay above 1,000.

Supreme Court Again Ponders Capital Punishment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once more the Supreme Court hears arguments on the question of whether the death penalty is such cruel and unusual punishment that it should be banned.

Is the death penalty an "insensate lottery" as lawyers for convicted men claim, or is it "a means of self-defense for the members of society" who have a right to be protected, as one state claims?

The lives of 468 people on death rows in 30 states depend on the answers based on arguments heard by the court today and Wednesday.

It has been nearly four years since the Supreme Court ruled 5-4 that the penalty, as then applied, was unconstitutional. All nine justices wrote separate opinions in that 1972 case of William Henry Furman v. Georgia. Most of them objected to the fact that judges and juries had wide discretion in deciding who shall live and who shall die. This led to unconstitutional arbitrariness, many of the justices ruled.

Since then 34 states have passed new laws designed to meet the objections and death row cells are filling anew. The cases being heard by the court represent a cross-section of the approaches legislatures have taken to the capital punishments question.

Another capital punishment case was argued last April before the court but the justices never decided that issue.

Lawyers for the six men appealing their death sentences claim not much has changed since the court's ruling in the Furman case. "Florida's non-mandatory death penalty statute permits the same discretionary sentencing system condemned by Furman v. Georgia," said lawyers for Charles William Proffitt, whose case is before the court.

Lawyers for Troy L. Gregg, sentenced to die for a double murder and armed robbery, said the Georgia law involves "a series of uncontrolled discretionary judgments that operate to spare the lives of some defendants while others in similar circumstances are sentenced to die."

The state of Georgia answers that the argument "is nothing more than a demand that we revert to a system of mandatory penalties fixed for narrowly categorized crimes so that regardless of mitigating circumstances or the personal history of the defendant, the death penalty would be

U.S. Bicentennial Slogan Adopted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford congratulated a 29-year-old Connecticut woman whose "Freedom's Way U.S.A." has been selected as the nation's official Bicentennial slogan.

Ford greeted Ellen Harness, an insurance claims supervisor, from Litchfield, Conn., at a White House ceremony on Monday.

She was accompanied by columnist Jack Anderson, who kicked off the slogan contest 18 months ago and was instrumental in having it incorporated as an official Bicentennial program.

Mrs. Harness said that her slogan came to her one day as she was driving to work.

Her entry edged "Take Pride in America's Past, Take Part in her Future," submitted by Nola Pearson of Akron, Ohio.

Car Wedges In Bridge; Driver Hurt

Gregory Lynn Moss, 18, 29737 Jackson Road, was admitted to the Ross County Medical Center for treatment of injuries he suffered when he demolished his car and did an estimated $1,000 damage to the Scippo Creek bridge on the Kingston Pike.

Moss was admitted to the medical center for treatment of a concussion, large bump on his forehead, and leg injuries, according to Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Jim Deal, who drove the youth to the hospital in the Sheriff's cruiser.

Moss was also charged with reckless operation following Deputy Deal's investigation of the 3:49 a.m. Tuesday accident.

According to his report, Moss was southbound on the Kingston Pike when he went left of center, leaving 129 feet of skid marks before his car crashed into the right side of the bridge.

The car moved sideways for 36 feet after impact, and became wedged between both sides of the single-lane bridge, which is located north of the Ludwig-Dresbach Road intersection.

Moss' 1970 Plymouth Duster was destroyed in the crash, and Assistant Pickaway County Engineer Bob Parker, summoned to the scene by Deputy Deal, estimated $1,000 damage to the bridge structure.

The Pickaway Twp. Fire Department washed gasoline from the road surface.

LEARN TO DRIVE

Ray Crawford, the money-saving owner and operator of C and S Auto Electric, has so much pride in his craftsmanship that he is offering guarantees that match those given with factory rebuilt parts.

But the nice part about Crawford's plan is that his rebuilt components can save up to 50 per cent over conventional rebuilds.

Any electrical component Crawford installs in a vehicle is under three month warranty, either from the factory dealer or from Crawford himself.

Car owners have been following farmers and dealers to C and S Auto Electric, located at the rear of 348 E. Franklin St., since Crawford opened the shop a year ago. The reason is easy to see in Crawford's estimation — "I really try to save people money."

When problems occur with a generator, alternator, or starter, Crawford is the man to see.

Either the vehicle owner or Crawford will remove the component that is suspected to be malfunctioning, and Ray will put the equipment through a free bench test to determine if it is faulty.

The testing not only helps the car owner determine the extent of his problem, but also allows Ray to make an educated determination if it would be more economical to replace internal components in the part, replace it entirely with factory rebuilt equipment, or install a completely new unit from a fine line of on-head components designed especially for the particular make of vehicle.

Most people will be amazed when he quotes prices on the three different types of replacements, especially the much lower prices of a Crawford-rebuilt unit as compared with new equipment.

Crawford has the tools and the knowledge (as evidenced by his guarantee) to do the job, and he usually offers same-day service.

However, if the component is too worn to repair, or if the vehicle owner wishes a factory rebuilt or new component, Crawford can again be of service.

C and S has been selected as the direct factory outlet for the outstanding line of Delco-Remy electrical parts including voltage regulators, starters, generators, and alternators.

Now, owners of General Motors products can replace electrical components with the standard Delco-Remy products rather than take a chance with another manufacturer's line of equipment.

C and S is also the authorized warranty service center for Delco-Remy in Central Ohio, a service that helps auto dealers and car owners save time and money.

One feature is integral voltage regulator test equipment for GM products, the only one of its kind in the area. The unit allows Crawford to inspect the effectiveness of Delco-Remy voltage regulators to determine if they should be repaired or replaced. Other manufacturers' lines available at C and S are Ace and Arrow products and parts.

Now, for the convenience of all car owners, Crawford has expanded his operation to include foreign car service.

He can now get electrical parts for foreign cars (primarily Datsun and Toyota models) including bushings, brushes, starter drives, cellenoids, armatures, and fields.

This allows him to repair many of the electrical components himself, or replace them with new if required.

Repair of foreign cars will take about three days, however, instead of the same-day service available for American products because of shipping times.

But Crawford, and most of his customers, agree that the savings are well worth the effort.

C and S is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and 8 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

A Page Of Opinion

Grilled Cheese Rhubarb

Rep. Les Aspin of Wisconsin has made something of a congressional career out of criticizing the Pentagon. That is all right, because the Defense Department, like every other department, agency and bureau of the government, at times deserves criticism.

But there are times when picking on a single target tends to blur the total perspective. Such as when the congressman zeroed in on the $1,030,476.73 the taxpayers paid to subsidize the five Pentagon dining rooms last year.

Dividing that total by the 85,667 meals served, the congressman arrived at an average subsidy per meal of $12.03. But then Rep. Aspin picked one entree from the menu—grilled cheese sandwich, salad, ice cream and coffee, for which the patron paid $1.50. A cost of $13.53 (average subsidy plus charge) intimated the congressmen, is a terrible price for such a meal.

Indeed it is, except that it is doubtful much of the subsidy went into grilled cheese sandwiches. Or, for that matter, that many of the generals dined on that fare.

Nor does it say anything for the similarly subsidized restaurants, gyms, barber shops, et al, provided for members of Congress.

Core Of Loneliness

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — W.C. Fields died 30 years ago on Christmas Day — a day he professed to abhor as much as he claimed to hate children and people who couldn't hold their liquor.

"He died of liquid flagellation after years of consuming two quarts of gin a day," says Rod Steiger, who will bring Fields back to life this week in a searing cinematic performance called "W.C. Fields and Me."

"People who are gifted, as he was, wind up with a core of loneliness at the center. Some hide it in booze, others in promiscuity, or overeating. No one knew him more than those who were like him — John Barrymore, Errol Flynn — all of them drinking and destroying themselves and not particularly liking themselves for what they were doing. Flynn and Barrymore ultimately became parodies, but Fields was an expert juggler with great balance — he had the ability to climb three flights of stairs and get behind the bedroom door before he fell down."

Steiger never met the man he portrays vividly, but after weeks of research and talks with Fields' mistress of 14 years, he understands at least his desperate loneliness. Other factors in the comic's life and actions were enigma, even to his cronies. "He was an insomniac. He'd call up strangers in the middle of the night. He'd make up myths about himself: He hated children, but he gave a lot of money to orphanages in secret.

"With people he didn't like, he was cruel. He'd encourage them to juggle with a knife and a porcelain plate and when they dropped the plate and lacerated themselves with the knife, he'd say 'Come on — you can do it — try it again.'

"He looked like Dorian Gray when he died at 62, but his mistress of many years — to whom he left only $50 a week and a Cadillac — told me, 'This man was very special and it was an honor to care for him.'

Steiger, a poet as well as a pretigious actor, calls portraying W. C. Fields "the most challenging thing I've ever tried to do — ever, ever, ever. I haven't seen the movie yet, but I know there will be people who won't like my interpretation. That's the problem you have with real as opposed to fictional personalities. I've played Al Capone, Mussolini, Napoleon, and it always happens. Somebody always had a grandfather who knew the real man and doesn't think I'm like him. I just finished making a movie of the life of Christ. I played Pontius Pilate. Somebody's going to say, 'That's not Pontius Pilate as my family remembers him.'

But though it is several months since he ceased being Fields on the set, and though he still takes on the nasal lilt of the comic when he discusses him, Rod Steiger says he "still misses" the eccentric man now. "A good part is like a good love affair. On certain days, when the sunlight shines a certain way through the trees, it all comes back and you feel lonely."

Like other creative people with a core of loneliness, Rod Steiger admits to his. He doesn't assuage it with drinking, but it "hasn't been very easy for me. I've been married three times; I make my commitments with great fidelity, but I still wonder what depths I have achieved at flinging myself into somebody else's heart. The 'Grand Passion' — I've often wondered if I missed something — always acting, having some other character to hide behind." But Steiger feels fulfilled by his marriage of two years ago to Sherry Nelson, a musician, former ballerina and horse-fancier to whom he gave a stakes-winning colt named "Stained Glass" last year.

Steiger wrote the marriage ceremony which they repeated at the nuptials:

"I am of you as you are of me, Yet being so much of one we are different.

That difference contains a need; That need, desired and pursued with respect, Makes us both more completely ourselves . . ."

Rod has stacks of poetry, which he has been writing since he was age 12. Each poem is dated, and each recalls a special moment in his life. "There are poems to loves that have come and loves that have gone, poems to storms over the Colosseum in Rome, poems of frustration. My God, it's a kaleidoscopic view of my life. I'd like to publish a small book of poetry some day. I want to be remembered, I guess."

He will be remembered for dozens of critically appraised roles, each of which caused him considerable stress because Steiger is a method actor who saturates himself in the personality of the men he plays. And the men he plays are not, typically, happy and contented fellows.

"Acting makes for a lot of tension," he conceded happily, "because when you make a mistake in acting the whole world sees it — and I've made some dreadful mistakes. Sometimes you take roles you shouldn't because you're afraid another part might not come along. That's dangerous, but you rationalize yourself into taking bad parts because, especially as you get older — and I'm 50 — you're terrified of wasting this time of your life doing nothing. Fear and masochism are a part of an actor's nature. I hope the W.C. Fields film is a great critical and commercial success, because that's the way you get the good scripts coming to you before another actor gets them . . ."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a crocus peeking out of the snow, the ordinary consumer, an extraordinary specimen, seems to feel an economic spring in the air, even if there might be a nip of frost from time to time.

The supermarkets are getting into price wars and the surveys show people growing more confident and electricity consumption is rising and the banks have money to lend and the unions are talking stiff bargaining terms.

Normalcy, abnormal as it might seem to be, is returning, the consumer seems to say, as surely as warm weather is headed north, and you need not await its arrival, because it's the direction not the destination that counts.

Yes, the supermarkets in some areas are fighting among themselves to see who can make the biggest price cuts, and that's the right direction in the view of the consumer, even if some food chains consider it abnormal and even dangerous.

Supermarket chains seldom have been big earners on the basis of profits to sales, although the figures are better when measured by the return on investment. On the former basis, earnings are less than 1 cent per $1 of sales.

Price wars, some fear, eventually destroy competition by forcing some of the smaller, weaker chains out of business, leaving consumers with fewer choices and less of an opportunity to exercise choice.

Of immediate importance to the consumer, however, seems to be that the direction of prices is back to "normal," which in most minds means a return to the good old days that never were until memory and imagination created them.

That same feeling is behind the sudden upturn in our use of electricity, which in 1974 and 1975 grew only by a total of 2 per cent, the result of fears about shortages, rebellion against prices and a general recession.

In the first 11 weeks of this year, however, consumption has risen 5.7 per cent.

Car sales are up too. And to the chagrin of Detroit, which tried to accommodate consumer demands for more efficient vehicles, some of the strongest sales are in the bigger, heavier, more energy-consuming cars.

The growing confidence, which some analysts still fear may be premature, has been especially noticeable during the past few months, as indicated in the Survey Research Center's latest quarterly report.

After showing no gain between August and November 1975, said researchers for the center, which is operated by the University of Michigan, confidence improved "substantially" between November 1975 and February 1976.

The improvement occurred among all income groups, it said. "All attitudes and expectations in the survey showed improvement, without exception," they said. And they noted that buying attitudes toward houses and cars were improving fast.

They'll Do It Every Time

3 Men Arrested In Jewel Theft

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Three men faced possible extradition to Michigan Monday, where they were charged in connection with a $100,000 jewelry robbery, Stark County sheriff's deputies said.

Authorities said the men were arrested Saturday afternoon in a car which belonged to Myron E. Tilton, 35, one of the trio.

Tilton was being sought on a charge of nonsupport, police said. The other men are George Florea, 55, and Gary E. Thompson, 32. All are Canton residents.

Police said a search of the men's car revealed $100,000 in jewelry, guns, walkie talkies, and wigs.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, March 30, the 90th day of 1976. There are 276 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1867, Russia agreed to sell Alaska to the United States for $7.2 million.

Also in 1870, Texas was readmitted into the Union after the Civil War.

In 1940, Japan established a puppet government in occupied China.

In 1962, nearly 1,200 prisoners captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion in Cuba were being tried by a military court at a baseball stadium in Havana.

Ten years ago: The French government notified the United States that U.S. bases in France must be closed within 12 months.

Five years ago: The 24th Congress of the Soviet Communist party opened in Moscow.

One year ago: The big South Vietnamese city of Da Nang and other northern coastal strongholds fell as the North Vietnamese made a rapid advance southward.

Today's birthdays: U.S. Ambassador to Iran Richard Helms is 63. President McGeorge Bundy of the Ford Foundation is 56.

Thought for today: Political parties serve to keep each other in check, one keenly watching the other. — Henry Clay, American statesman, 1777-1852.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Brigadier General William Heath arrived in New York with a brigade of troops to defend the city against any British attack.

Indicators Up Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today its index anticipating economic trends gained for the fourth straight month in February, but at a slower rate than during the previous month.

The Commerce Department said its composite of a dozen economic statistics, called leading indicators, climbed by eight-tenths of 1 per cent in February. That compared to a gain of 1.5 per cent in January, which had been the largest increase in six months.

The January figure was revised downward from an original estimate of 2.2 per cent.

The index has been gaining steadily, except for a four-tenths of 1 per cent setback in October. It signals steady economic growth in the months ahead, although still at a pace slower than before the nation hit recession in 1973.

Commerce said the biggest factor in the latest increase was a higher percentage of companies reporting slower deliveries from their suppliers. The percentage reporting slower deliveries climbed from 42 per cent in January to 50 per cent in February. Slower deliveries are taken as a sign of increased demand and quicker economic activity.

LAFF - A - DAY

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester I. Coleman, M.D.

Sometime in the spring my 4-year-old daughter will have a hernia operation. I recall your attitudes about tonsil surgery. Does this hold true for a hernia operation?

Mrs. G.A.W., Kan.

Dear Mrs. W.:

Children who are properly prepared before they go to the hospital for any kind of surgery have a totally different experience than the child who is not prepared.

When a child is armed with the truth and one of its parents can spend the night at the hospital, a nightmarish situation can be converted into a wonderful growth experience of childhood.

Children who, without explanation, are separated from their family and their own secure room, understandably experience a feeling of abandonment.

Psychologists and psychiatrists agree that even a single experience may have a permanent effect on the sensitive mind of a child.

When children are told the purpose of an operation, the reason for anesthesia, and all of the details that they will experience, the emotional aftermath is markedly reduced.

Hospital administrators have learned over the years that when mothers stay overnight with their child, the need for nursing care is reduced by more than 75 per cent. The added security that a child has in the presence of a parent supports him even during painful moments.

To help parents prepare their children for any kind of surgery, I have supervised the writing of two storybooks for the children. They were written initially for the psychological preparation of children for tonsillectomy. The same rules apply for operations and hernias, eye surgery and almost all other types of elective surgery. The variations that exist can be filled in by the ingenuity of the parent.

Going to the Hospital (Random House) is a pop-up story book with life-like mechanical illustrations that visualize for the child what he can expect at the hospital. Bettina Clark is the author.

A Visit to the Hospital (Grosset and Dunlap) was written by Francine Chase and serves to offer support to the child prior to surgery. Both books have been highly recommended by psychologists, educators and child development groups.

Children armed with the truth can grasp the impact of surgery without severe emotional trauma.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

I have lived in the Circleville area for five years now. I am finding it harder and harder to grocery shop in this area without sanctioning the sale of intoxicating beverages.

I would like to express my appreciation though to those owners and managers who have thus far kept alcoholic beverages out of their stores.

I pray that there will always be a store in Circleville where people with convictions such as I may grocery shop.

I also appreciate those people living in this area who have fought against this very thing that I'm writing of today.

Thank You,
MRS. ESTHER GILLILAND
Route 5

Dear Editor:

I would just like to take this means of saying how proud all of us, who took part one way or another in producing our program, "Our American Heritage", for you, the viewing audience, this past weekend at Teays Valley High School. From all of the comments made following the program, we all felt very privileged to be a part of such a stirring production.

I cannot say enough for my committee who worked so hard with me in making it a lasting memory. I especially have to thank David Dill, who relented at the last moment not to sing in the musical, but to work behind the scenes to make sure the lighting, stage props, and curtain was all taken care of at the proper time. He also made to perfection, the drawing and printing for our posters, program covers, and designed and made our special engine and "pull man" car used in the Metta Lark's act. Also to Velma Purcell for making our British red coat at the last moment. Its the many hours of hard work that we often time fail to recognize that helped so much in making it a more colorful production.

I also feel a special thanks should go to the Ashville Bicentennial Committee, who endorsed the program; our two narrators, Jim Leckrone and Carl Leist; our musical director, Fred Brobst; Carolyn Lutz, our pianist; and to each chorus member who sold ads, advance tickets, and came to each rehearsal so faithfully. Also, to the Metta Larks, who filled in on a five day notice, with a delightful opening. We appreciated also the loaning of the flags by the First National and Third National Banks of Circleville, and last of all our advertisers and patrons.

My thanks could go on and on to many more who helped in many ways but the most rewarding of all has been the comments from those who attended and felt it was one of the finest shows ever produced in this area. It really makes you proud to be a citizen of a free country, whose celebrating its 200th birthday, one nation under God, and to have a small part in making the public aware of this great U.S.A. and her 50 star flag.

Rubinstein Honored

CLEVELAND (AP) — After pianist Artur Rubinstein performed here Monday night, the audience went wild, storming the stage, grabbing his hand and clapping enthusiastically for the nearly blind virtuoso.

Rubinstein, who had performed Beethoven's Emperor Concerto, played an encore.

The capacity crowd jammed Severance Hall to see the 89-year-old legend who has embarked on a tour despite his failing eyesight and hearing. He relies mostly on memory to play the piano.

"Thousands are waiting to see him because everyone thinks it's his last tour," said Louis Bender, Rubinstein's personal representative, "but he won't stop. He'll go on and on."

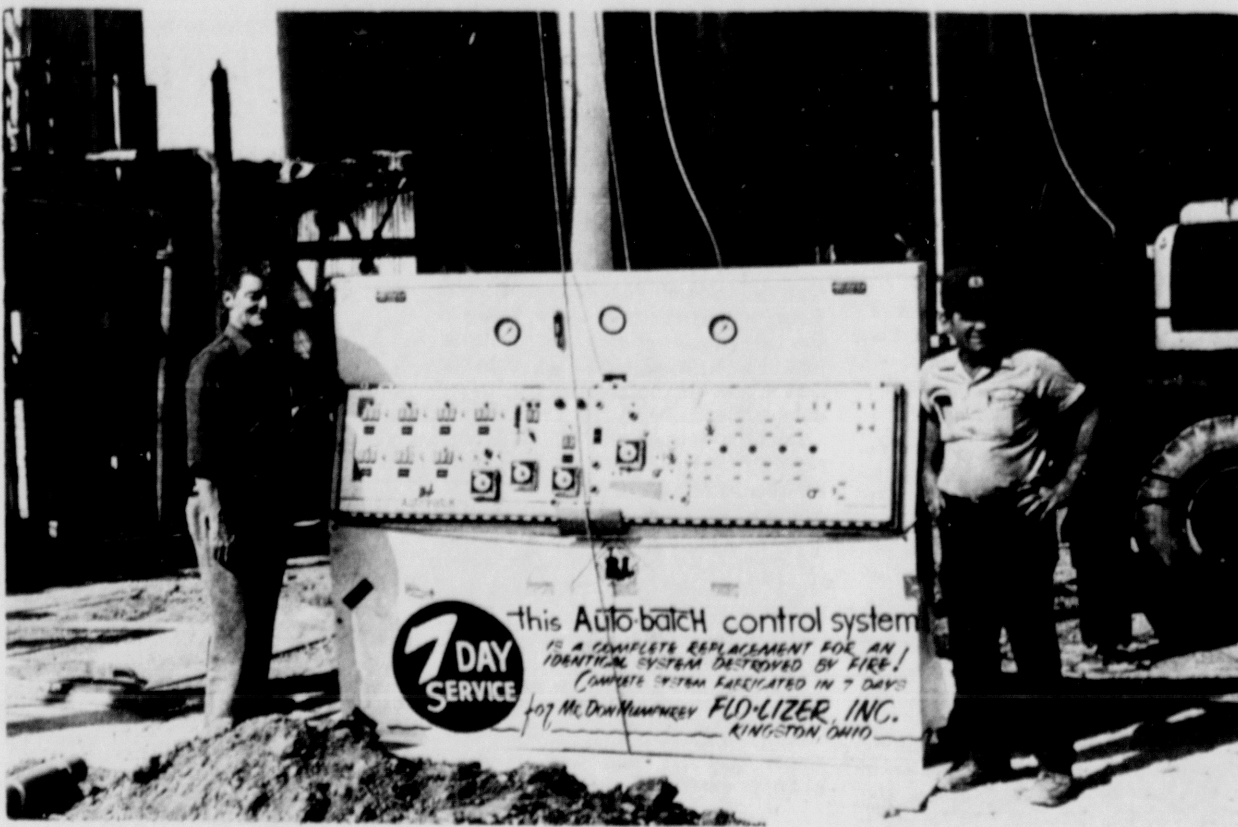

At a morning rehearsal, Rubinstein stopped the music to tell Lorin Maazel, the orchestra's music director, how he wanted a passage played. Then when the orchestra came in on time, Rubinstein applauded. After the rehearsal, the orchestra members cheered the pianist.

Bender said that despite Rubinstein's age and ailments, he still runs up and down stairs when he recognizes a pretty girl. "Everything excites him. He loves life. He loves piano. He loves to eat good food and tell good stories," Bender said.

Bill Mundy Speaks To Classes

The series of programs planned for county high school Special Education classes will continue this Friday with Bill Mundy of Harold Mundy Pontiac, the featured speaker.

The class will then go outside to inspect a used car and will observe first hand, things that should be checked before making a purchase of a used car. The need for regular service of a car, to keep it running well, will also be incorporated in Mundy's discussion.

Mundy is the fifth representative of the business community to devote a Friday afternoon to students in Pickaway County Schools in order to better acquaint them with the basic knowledge needed for community living.

Other speakers have included Mrs. Ruth McFadden discussing real estate; Asa Elsea explaining mobile home living; John Farthing speaking about the need for a lawyer; and Larry Fveland covering the need for all kinds of insurance protection.

Pickaway Plains DAR Plans To Participate In Heritage Days

Pickaway Plains Chapter of The Daughters of American Revolution met Tuesday afternoon at the Historical Society room.

Mrs. Henry Bartholomew, regent, opened the meeting using the ritual, assisted by Mrs. Emerson Spicer, chaplain, who also led the pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, followed by Mrs. Martin W. Cromley, pianist, who led the singing of the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Mrs. George McGhee, recording secretary, read the minutes of the February meeting. Miss Dhei Renick, vice-regent read the President General, Mrs. Wakelee Rawson Smith's letter. She informed that the national project, a gift of the ceiling murals designed by Allyn Cox, that the DAR had planned for in the United States Capitol building had been launched as its "Bicentennial Tribute To America."

Mrs. Spicer, bicentennial chairman read a letter from the local Bicentennial Commission, asking the chapter to participate in The Heritage Days celebration to be held at the Fairgrounds Coliseum, June 5-6. The purpose of this project being to purchase a memorial to Grenadier Square. It was voted to have a table consisting of handmade items to be sold as the chapter's contribution to the project.

Mrs. O'Dell Baker, member of the national defense committee, gave its report taken from the Congressional News. The first point brought out was concerning foreign aid. Many people have not learned that giving large amounts of money or aid to foreign countries does not buy friendship. Our huge expanding government welfare programs has led to idleness, instead we must need to encourage people to accept responsibility and work. We must learn to be self sufficient to conquer our energy problem.

Members were reminded by the regent to bring cancelled postage stamps to the next meeting.

Hostesses were: Mrs. Robert Pickens, Miss Wilmine Haecker, Mrs. Carl Steinhauer, Mrs. Quinn Clark, Mrs. O'Dell Baker, Mrs. Leslie May, Mrs. Harold Borror, Miss Mary K. May, Miss Virginia Metier, Mrs. Fred

Corcoran, Mrs. David Yates, Mrs. Eldred Cayce, Miss Ruth Montelius, Miss Elizabeth Stevenson and Mrs. Donald E. Metzler.

Mrs. Bartholomew attended the 70th annual State DAR Conference held in Dayton last week. The theme of the meeting was: "A generation goes and a generation comes, but the earth remains forever!" (Ecc. 1:4)

Miss Renick gave a brief review of the resolutions drawn up by the Ohio DAR committee: There is legislation now pending before Congress which would establish the State as an agency responsible for the rearing of children. The society advocates that citizens be made fully cognizant of the effect it would have on breaking up the family unit.

It is the Constitutional obligation of Congress to provide facilities for postal communications. Members are encouraged to tell Congress to promote efficiency or seek alternative methods of free enterprise to process mail to insure prompt delivery.

The representative republican government is being subverted by powers of appointed judges. They have taken over school systems, and members should alert themselves and others to use their influence to regain and maintain local control of schools.

Miss Renick read further that DAR disagrees with signing the "Declaration of Interdependence" on July 4, 1976. This calls for the surrender of national sovereignty in international organizations and resources of the globe belong to all nations.

Miss Helen Mettler reported on the Bicentennial Formal Banquet speech by Mrs. Robert Lacy Jackson from Carlsbad, N.M. The theme for her address was "Waking Up To The American Dream." She said the Republic is to serve the people and they must work together.

Mrs. Bartholomew turned the meeting over to the American Heritage program committee, Mrs. R. R. Bales, Mrs. Walter Kinder, Mrs. James Price, Miss Wilmine Haecker, Mrs. Edward King and Mrs. Steinhauer. Mrs. Bales thanked all who brought pitchers for display. Mrs. Price gave a brief history of pitchers

Founders Day Banquet Held By Derby Garden Club

Derby Garden Club members observed Founder's Day with a banquet recently at the Terrace Lounge, Washington C.H.

Following the banquet, Virginia Brokamp gave a program titled "Red, White And Blue In Your Garden." She used colorful posters to illustrate ideas for bicentennial gardens, borders, corners or containers. Included in the container gardens were ideas for a bicentennial mailbox, an all-American hanging basket or bicentennial planter box using red, white and blue asters, cornflowers, petunias and zinnias. Ageratum, salvia and allysum can also be used.

Mrs. Brokamp suggested that gardeners measure area carefully making sure that all corners are square, till areas deeply and work in standard garden fertilizer, prepare edges around designs so that flowers are 1 1/2-2 ft. away from edge. When plants are set in design allow for growth and bloom. Mulch for outside edges is important to define design and reduce weeding. During the summer, gardeners should pick faded flowers, water well and reapply fertilizer once or twice.

Hostesses for the banquet were Jan Stover, Susie Furniss, Geraldine McPherson, May Delay and Lois Ruoff.

Announcements were made by the president, Lois Ruoff, concerning the April 5 Style Show at the Derby United Methodist Church featuring styles from Sharff's of Circleville, and the open meeting April 22 when Don Archer will talk on "Conservation."

Commissioners Consider Annexation To Ashville

Pickaway County Commissioners Monday set a hearing date of 10 a.m. May 24 for a petition of annexation to the village of Ashville.

The request for annexation involves one parcel of land containing 1.841 acres of land and located at the northwest corner of Long Street and Route 752. The petitioner is Arlie Thompson. The petition was drawn by Roy Huffer, a member of the law firm of Huffer and Huffer.

Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney Richard Gerhardt today in a written opinion informed commissioners they could apply for annexation to the city of Circleville for a tract of land where the workshop for the mentally retarded will be constructed.

The tract was formerly owned by Charles Walters and is located on East Route 22 just east of the city limits. Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, L. Robert Liston and Donald Strous are seeking the annexation so city water and sewer lines can be extended to the proposed facility.

Gerhardt said that if the city agrees to accept the annexation, it will be unnecessary for the county to hold a public hearing. Construction of the workshop should begin this summer.

Tootle, chairman of the board of commissioners, said today the board has decided not to purchase the old A&P supermarket property on the Island Road. The decision was made not to make the purchase because of the questionable status of the federal revenue sharing program at this time.

Tootle noted the only way the purchase could be made would be with federal funds since the county does not have the money available in its general fund to make the purchase.

A recent feasibility study of the A&P property was made by the commissioners who felt it was a better alternative to provide more office space for county government than construction or rental of space.

Tootle indicated the commissioners may reconsider if federal funds become available and if the property is still available.

Commissioners announced that a sale of surplus county equipment will be held 1 p.m. May 1 at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

PET OF THE WEEK — This male dog is brown and white, part shepherd. He is about one year-old and is looking for a home. This pet is available at the Pickaway County Animal Shelter by calling 474-3741 or 474-1283. The Pickaway County Humane Society reminds you that free-roaming dogs are responsible for bites requiring medical treatment to over 600,000 people each year. They contribute greatly to auto accidents. Giving your dog freedom can also lead to fecal contamination, injuries and dog fights.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Babysitting Granddad Beats 6-Year-Old

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have two children ages 3 and 6. My husband doesn't like to hire sitters. He says it's too expensive, but I notice he has money for his boat and a storeroom filled with the latest in hunting and fishing equipment.

Anyway, the last time we went out for an evening we left our kids overnight with his parents. The next day, our 6-year-old had welts and bruises all over his little body. He told us that Granddaddy had whipped him with a leather belt for telling a fib!

My husband didn't seem at all upset. He said whoever kids are left with has a right to punish them any way he sees fit.

Abby, we have never whipped our kids with a belt, and I say nobody else should, either. Please settle this.

MONTANA MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I agree with you 100 percent. NEVER leave your children with those grandparents again and tell them why. "Granddaddy" sounds as though he needs a thorough checkup. (Physical and mental.) And where was "Grandma" when all this was going on?

BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL
June 17, 1775

Both the British in Boston and the colonial troops around the city had strengthened their positions. At night the colonials constructed a series of trenches and fortifications on Bunker Hill, in the Bunker Hill area. Attacked the next day by the British, the militiamen were able again and again to repel the enemy forces, until the British powder ran out. Cost to the British, 1,054 casualties; to the colonials, 100 dead, 267 wounded.

Indiana Tops Michigan; NCAA Champion

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Indiana Hoosiers were handed the No. 1 ranking at the start of the season, but that doesn't mean anything unless you can earn it on the court.

They did — 32 times.

The "perfect" Hoosiers capped a glorious 32-0 season Monday night with a businesslike 86-68 victory over Michigan in the NCAA finals, ending a long quest for college basketball's Holy Grail.

"If we don't deserve to be national champions, then I don't know who does," said Indiana's superlative guard, Quinn Buckner. "We won all our games. What else can you do?"

The Hoosiers survived several pitfalls on the road to the championship — including a mild mid-season slump that relegated Buckner to the bench. During this time, they struggled to beat Michigan twice by close scores.

Despite what Buckner called "peaks and valleys," Indiana made it through the Big Ten season undefeated, a performance that Michigan Coach Johnny Orr called "unbelievable."

What happened thereafter was even more impressive. The Hoosiers, playing in one of the toughest regional tournaments in NCAA history, defeated St. John's, Alabama and Marquette to win the Mideast and advance to the gold-plated Final Four in Philadelphia.

"It was very physical all through the Big Ten and just as physical in the regionals," pointed out Indiana strongman Kent Benson. "It was as physical as I can remember."

UCLA's Bruins, the defending champions, presented no problem to peaking Indiana in Saturday's semifinals at the Spectrum. The Hoosiers, who had beaten UCLA by a shocking 20 points on opening day, handled them with almost as much ease the second time.

For a change, Benson and Player of the Year Scott May took a backseat to two lesser lights — Tom Abernethy and Bobby Wilkerson. Abernethy scored 14 points and shut down UCLA's Richard Washington and Wilkerson grabbed a career-high 19 rebounds. And Indiana won, 65-51.

While the Big Ten champions were disposing of tall and talented UCLA, Michigan was belaboring Rutgers.

Indiana's Big Ten colleagues handed the Scarlet Knights their first defeat of the season after 31 victories, 86-70, and set up a unique NCAA finale. It was the first time in NCAA playoff history that two teams from the same conference met in the championship game.

"It'll probably be the last time in our lifetime that we ever see something like this again," said Orr. "Take a good look at it."

Indiana's brightness didn't shine until after the Hoosiers were hit by adversity. Wilkerson, one of the few starting guards in the country at 6-foot-7, suffered a concussion in the early going and had to be carried from the court on a stretcher.

"When Bobby got hurt we knew we had to go at it tougher," said Buckner. "Bobby's a big part of our team. We did go at it."

Actually, the Hoosiers didn't really "go at it" until after the start of the second half. The Wolverines kept ahead of their Big Ten colleagues with a brilliant fast break and by intermission, led 35-29.

Benson, a blond giant with a pacifist temperament off the court and a killer instinct on, blamed his first-half timidity for the Hoosiers' uncharacteristic performance before intermission.

Benson pulled himself together in the second half — and in the process, pulled Michigan apart. The All-American center took charge of things, scoring 15 of his 25 points and collecting six of his nine rebounds.

With the help of their tower of strength, the Hoosiers went from a 51-51 tie with 10:15 left to a 73-59 lead at the 3:51 mark. Indiana only had to run out the clock after that overpowering 22-8 burst.

May also had a high-powered second half for Indiana, scoring 18 of his game-high 26 points and pulling down all of his eight rebounds.

"We just couldn't get the running game going in the second half," said Rickey Green, Michigan's high scorer with 18 points. "They were making their shots and we couldn't get the rebounds. We've got to get the rebounds to run. I think we ran pretty well in the first half and that was the difference."

Orr, who almost beat Indiana during the regular season, found the Hoosiers much stronger in their third meeting — in fact, downright indestructible in the second half.

"They played a great second half," noted Orr, bitterly disappointed. "I don't know what else we could have done."

The splendid season matched the 32-0 perfection of North Carolina in 1957, the best undefeated record in NCAA history.

"For two years, this (NCAA championship) has been our objective," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "Not just this year, but for two years these kids have worked hard — and no one knows how hard any better than I do."

Circleville Sets Sports Banquet

Demands On Prep Athletes Too Great?

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — "Demands on high school athletes today are far too great," said Billy Bowman, for 17 years a coach. "Young men and coaches never have a chance to relax and enjoy themselves."

Bowman resigned at Lancaster High School and probably from basketball as well last week.

SPORTS

The Circleville Herald, Tuesday March 30, 1976

Hoosiers' Benson 'Most Valuable'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Kent Benson, the Most Valuable player of the 1976 National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball Championship, might best be described as a Dave Cowens in a college uniform.

The 6-foot-11 Benson bulls to the basket and seems to have a nose for the ball, just like Cowens, the star center of the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association.

Benson, a 245-pounder with the moves of a guard, scored 25 points, grabbed nine rebounds and handed out two assists as he muscled the unbeaten Indiana Hoosiers to the national collegiate basketball championship.

Indiana crushed Michigan 86-68 Monday night to complete a march through one of the toughest brackets in NCAA tournament history. The Hoosiers beat four of the Top Ten ranked teams en route to their third title in eight postseason ventures.

Both winning Coach Bobby Knight and loser Johnny Orr put the finger on Benson as the major difference between the two Big Ten rivals.

Knight observed that Benson deserved the MVP accolade.

"He played an outstanding game," said the Indiana coach. "He did an outstanding job on the boards. He got the ball for us."

Benson, a junior from New Castle, Ind., didn't allow a little thing like a cast on his left wrist to deter him. He's been playing with torn ligaments, and has plans for an operation during the off season.

And to hear Knight tell it, Benson has yet to reach his peak.

"Benson has developed well at Indiana," observed Knight, who has encouraged the big guy to be aggressive.

"He'll develop even more next year," Knight said. "He's done an outstanding job and he'll do even better," the coach advised.

Circleville '9' Loses To Miami Trace, 11-6

Circleville dropped its season opener to Miami Trace, 11-6, in a game played in a steady drizzle Monday on the Panther's diamond.

Doug McGlone went all the way on the hill for the Tigers to suffer the loss. He gave up 11 hits, eight walks and struck out three.

Conner and Foster shared mound duties for the Panthers, giving up a total of eight hits.

Trace broke on top in the bottom of the first inning when they pushed three runs across the plate.

But, the Tigers bounced right back in the top of the second with a pair of markers when Jerry Strawser doubled, Bo Barthelmas walked and both raced home on Jamie Hickey's single.

Things fell in on the Tigers in the bottom of the second when the Panthers erupted for five big runs to grab an 8-2 lead.

However, the Tigers refused to quit and kept battling back as they picked up another pair of runs in the top of the fourth when Brad Allison doubled, scored on a single by McGlone who tallied on a booming double by Brent Mancini.

Then, in the sixth frame Bob Fuller reached on an error, Allison doubled, Fuller scored and Allison moved to third on an infield out and Allison came home on an infield out by Keith Sanders.

Miami Trace bounced back with three runs in the bottom of the sixth and that was the ball game.

Allison had a double and single for Circleville, Biff Bumgarner rapped a pair of singles, Mancini and Strawser both belted doubles while Hickey and McGlone each slammed a single.

Conner cracked a double and single for Miami Trace, English slammed a double, Bahahaster, Grooms and Pierce each belted a pair of singles while Coe and Darling both rapped a single.

"I was pleased with our offensive effort and hustle," coach Tom Cole commented. "Our players never quit battling but we just gave up too many runs with two outs in the innings."

Circleville is now 0-1 and will host Ready noon Saturday.

Saltcreek Signup

Saltcreek will hold registration for summer baseball and softball players April 3 at the PTO Carnival.

The second, and final, registration will be held 10 a.m. until noon April 10.

All registration papers must be signed by a parent or guardian.

Logan Elm Opens Baseball Season With 6-1 Win Over ZT

Logan Elm opened its 1976 baseball season Monday defeating visiting Zane Trace 6-1 in a game called after six innings because of darkness. Intermittent showers fell throughout the game.

The Braves used a trio of pitchers who limited the Pioneers to a lone hit, a single by Rick French in the fourth inning that drove in their only run.

Tim Justus started for L.E., fanned six and hit one batter. He was relieved by Steve Rawlins who struck out three and walked one. Tony Crist pitched the last two innings, fanning three and walking one.

Frenc started for the visitors and was relieved after three innings by Lentz. They struck out seven, walked six and were touched for nine hits.

Jerry Scanlan banged out three singles for the Braves in four trips to the plate. Chuck Cave smashed a double and two singles in four trips, Rob Black and Jeff Reichelderfer each doubled and Randy Pontius singled.

The Braves went up 1-0 in the bottom of the first inning when Scanlan led off with a single, advanced to second on a bunt single by Pontius and scored on Cave's double.

In the third they scored another run. Again Scanlan led off with a single, moved up on a wild pitch and scored on a 2-out single by Cave.

In the bottom of the fourth, Tim Fouch walked, stole second and scored on Jerry Scanlan's single. The fifth inning produced two runs for the winners. Reichelderfer led off with a walk and Cave singled. Both of them scored on Black's double.

An insurance run came in the bottom of the sixth when Pontius walked, stole second and scored on Reichelderfer's double.

The Braves host Westfall Wednesday.

Steve Rawlins, who injured his knee in a basketball game late in the season, is still a doubtful player for the Braves in spite of the fact he worked two innings on the mound yesterday.

The knee has been healing slowly and doctors have still not ruled out the possibility of surgery.

"We need Steve in our pitching rotation with the kind of schedule we have this year," veteran Logan Elm baseball coach Vic Pontius said. The Braves are facing a 30-game schedule.

"With Steve strong, we have three good starting pitchers, but without him we'll definitely lack the depth needed playing four or five games a week," he explained.

Tigers Take Pair From Chisox

HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

For the State of Michigan, there was some good news out of Florida to go with the bad news from Philadelphia Monday night, which is the route you might expect Florida-Philadelphia news to go.

While the University of Michigan Wolverines were winding down the basketball season by bowing to Indiana in the national championship game, the Detroit Tigers prepared for the upcoming baseball season by sweeping a pair of seven-inning games from the Chicago White Sox, 8-3 and 1-0.

And the nightcap produced a near-perfect no-hitter by Ray Bare and Billy Laxton while most of the sports writers in the press box at Lakeland, Fla., were watching the basketball on television.

Bare hurled five innings and only one Chicagoan reached base when shortstop Tom Verzyer committed a throwing error on Alan Bannister's thirdinning grounder. Bannister was rubbed out attempting to steal and Billy Laxton finished up with two perfect rounds.

Laxton, who came with Rusty Staub from the New York Mets in the Mickey Lolich deal, became the winner when Staub led off the bottom of the seventh with a home run off Cecil Upshaw. In the opener, Ben Oglivie and rookie Bob Molinaro each drove in three runs.

The good news-bad news syndrome also hit the Boston Red Sox camp. Cecil Cooper hit a two-run homer and Bill Lee pitched five scoreless innings in a 5-1 decision over the Houston Astros. But Jim Rice spiked himself in the left ankle trying to make a diving catch.

Rice, who missed the 1975 playoffs and World Series with a broken wrist, suffered a deep puncture and needed three stitches. Trainer Charlie Moss said the slugging outfielder would be out for two or three days barring complications.

Texas' Jeff Burroughs raised his spring average to .500 with three singles and a three-run homer in the Rangers' 12-7 triumph over the Kansas City Royals.

Don Sutton, rumored bound for the Mets in a swap for Tom Seaver, allowed one run and six hits in seven innings as the Los Angeles Dodgers bowed to the Montreal Expos 3-2 on Bombo Rivera's ninth-inning pinch double.

Ex-Dodger Jimmy Wynn hit his first spring homer, a three-run shot that helped the Atlanta Braves defeat the winless Mets 8-4.

Ted Simmons drove in two runs with a homer and single in a seven-run third inning that lifted the St. Louis Cardinals over the Cincinnati Reds 11-4. Brent Strom and Bill Greif combined on a five-hitter and Willie Davis and Dave Winfield homered to lead the San Diego Padres over the Cleveland Indians 7-0.

The Oakland A's posted their first spring triumph, downing the Chicago Cubs 8-6 as Bill North collected a single, double, triple and four RBI. Chris Arnold, trying to win his way back onto the San Francisco roster, belted a grand slam homer to help the Giants beat the Milwaukee Brewers 9-3.

The New York Yankees turned back the Philadelphia Phillies 5-3 on 14th-inning RBI singles by Willie Randolph and Fred Stanley. Another band of Phillies bowed to the Pittsburgh Pirates 12-1 as Bill Robinson slugged a three-run homer.

Phil Roof hit a two-run homer as the Minnesota Twins defeated the Baltimore Orioles 8-5 and the California Angels managed only three hits off a trio of collegians and bowed to UCLA 2-1 in 10 innings.

Pirates Seek Basepath Speed

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates have hired the "stretch coach" of the Pittsburgh Steelers, added a former tight end to their pitching staff and lifted a ban on beards — like the ones common to this city's football favorites.

Who knows? Maybe the Pirates will devise a "Steel Curtain" to stop the running game of Cincinnati Reds if they meet again in the 1976 National League baseball playoffs.

The Pirates won their fifth NL East title in six seasons in 1975, only to be swept by the Reds in the playoffs, despite 14 strikeouts by rookie pitcher John Candelaria in the finale.

Paul Uram, the high school gymnastics coach who guides the Steelers in flexibility drills, is in the Pirates training camp.

It's part of a Pirate push for more basepath speed — the kind the Reds used to steal seemingly at will in last year's playoff.

In a more significant move, General Manager Joe Brown dealt with the Yankees to obtain pitcher George "Doc" Medich, a 6-foot-5, 225-pounder who once played end for the University of Pittsburgh.

To get Medich, the Pirates gave young infielder Willie Randolph and two pitchers: Ken Brett, who's had trouble with his arm, and Dock Ellis, who's had troubles with Pirate Manager Murtaugh.

Medich gives the Pirates a righty starter to go with lefties Jim Rooker, Candelaria and Jerry Reuss, 18-11 last year.

That was the only major deal Brown made, though he had serious talks with some teams about centerfielder Al Oliver.

Yet while they'll be mainly the same players, the Pirates will have a new look.

In the Bicentennial spirit, they'll wear striped caps with a squared look similar to those of the 1880s.

Murtaugh has also lifted his ban on beards, and at least three Pirates are sporting them in training camp — Dave Parker, Stargell and pitcher Bob Moose.

Nonetheless, third baseman Richie

Hebner got a mandatory cut — 20 per cent of his pay.

Hebner, an established hitter who slipped to .246 last year, was a holdout past March 9, allowing General Manager Brown to invoke the "renewal" clause in his contract.

Under that clause, the holdout plays one season for at least 80 per cent of his pay from the previous year. The next season he becomes a free agent. Brown said he gave Hebner the maximum 20 per cent reduction, which would lop $13,000 from his reported salary of $65,000.

Likely to join Hebner in the infield are shortstops Frank Taveras and Craig Reynolds, a two-some whose 1975 averages totalled .436; second baseman Rennie Stennett, who set a modern record with seven hits in one game last year; and first baseman Willie Stargell, who needs one homer to tie Ralph Kiner for 23rd on the all-time list.

The outfield: Richie Zisk; Al Oliver, who refused to do promotions work for the Pirates in the offseason because he was miffed at trade reports; and Parker, who led the league last year with a .541 slugging percentage.

That's a youthful trio. If age is a problem anywhere it's in the bullpen, where righty Dave Giusti and lefty Ramon Hernandez are both in their mid 30s.

Likely new faces are Ed Ott, who can play outfield and catch, and veteran utility infielder Tommie Helms, obtained from Houston.

Len Fontaine IHL Scoring Champion

DETROIT (AP) — Port Huron center Len Fontaine, who scored a pair of goals in the Flags' final regular-season game, was named the International Hockey League's 1975-76 scoring champion Monday.

Fontaine, 28, finished with 53 goals and 59 assists for 112 points in 74 games.

Kirk Bowman of the Flint Generals was runnerup with 44 goals and 63 assists for 107 points. Bowman played in 78 games.

NFL Expansion Teams Make Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — In the age-old tradition of every team that ever made a draft pick, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and Seattle Seahawks selected "the best players available" as the National Football League stocked its 27th and 28th teams today.

Those available may have included some familiar names made expendable by age, salary or a combination of the two.

League officials were on hand to supply pertinent information on factors such as salaries and bonus arrangements in the contracts of possible draft choices as the two teams began making their selections.

There were reports that such veterans as linebackers Lee Roy Jordan and Dave Edwards of Dallas, running back Essex Johnson of Cincinnati, offensive linemen Joe Scibelli and Charlie Cowan of Los Angeles, quarterback Len Dawson and former All-Pro receiver Otis Taylor of Kansas City, all longtime NFL performers, would be on the lists of players eligible for selection by the new teams.

But the draft carried a standard warning of caveat emptor — "let the buyer beware."

If Tampa Bay or Seattle chose a player coming off the injured reserve list who cannot perform or a veteran who chooses to retire instead of moving to a new team, they're stuck.

That's why officials of the two clubs sifted carefully through the draft lists supplied to them by the league at noon EST Monday. They had 21 hours to study the names before Seattle made the opening expansion selection at 9 a.m. EST today.

The two new teams were to choose 39 players each, with each of the 26 established NFL teams losing three men in the draft. Each time a team lost a player, it was permitted to add another player to its protected list. Going into the draft, the 26 established teams were permitted to protect 32 players — 30 from their active rosters and two from the reserve lists.

There was a 30-minute time limit in effect for each of the first 13 selections by each team and a 15-minute limit for the choices after that. If the two teams used the maximum time allowed, the draft would last 26 hours, winding up at 11 a.m. EST Wednesday.

The NFL planned no expansion roster announcement until Wednesday when the makeup of both teams will be released at a joint press conference.

The Beulah Park Jockey colony now has a father-son combination in James A. and James R. Dailey.

United States and British golfers will play their 19th Curtis Cup team matches at the Royal Lytham and St. Annes Golf Club in St. Annes-on-Sea in Lancashire, England, June 11-12.

Potvin Marks 30th Goal

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — His right fist punched the air with joy as the sellout crowd stood and cheered. Then Denis Potvin raced goalward to retrieve the puck that just had become his 30th goal of the season.

Puck tightly in hand, the second defenseman in National Hockey League history to score 30 times in a season skated to the bench.

"I haven't cried in a long time," said the New York Islanders defenseman, "but when I got to the bench and heard the people cheering, I couldn't help it."

"Now that I've got it, I can admit that I was looking for 30 goals and 100 points this season," he said after pulling within 11 points of the century mark with four games remaining.

Potvin's second-period power play goal was the Islanders' fourth tally in what became a 5-1 victory over the Philadelphia Flyers Monday night. In the NHL's other contest, Toronto trimmed Pittsburgh 5-4.

Jim Dolan, a veteran newscaster and race caller, will be the official announcer for Beulah Park's spring meeting.

Former American League umpire Bill Valentine is general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals farm team at Little Rock, Ark.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Don't let loyalty to an associate involve you in a dubious situation. It's a day for being strictly conventional.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Good will built up in the past will prove an invaluable asset now. You gain added prestige and status in several areas.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Stress your independence of thought. Don't let friends talk you out of your ideas — even though they may be a bit on the unconventional side.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Leave the status quo in all phases of your life unless you are forced to make changes because of unexpected developments. But, even then, act reservedly.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Personal relationships highly congenial. In fact, your career status may be boosted by an influential person.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You have a wonderful chance now to display your ingenuity and possibly think up a new way to present an old idea which could STILL be feasible if properly worked out.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Job matters may require some special attention, perhaps a change of method. A state of readiness advised — to cope with the unexpected.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Unusual tact needed in domestic and social circles. Don't "make waves" or stir up needless dissension — only too easily done now if you are not alert.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Aspects stimulate your knack for handling matters which involve many persons. Especially favored: legal matters, government work and mediation between opposing forces.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Someone will throw down the gauntlet. The challenge will stimulate you and give you a bright idea — if you get busy at once.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be objective and watch for opportune moments to advance your interests. Combine your best ideas with those of others — for the benefit of all.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mr. 20): Fine Neptune influences. Be on the lookout for good leads, projects with substantial background. Maritime interests, creative pursuits and travel especially favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a powerful personality and tremendous ambition. There are few failures among those born on this date, but many of you do not realize your full potentialities. Actually, you are extremely versatile and could succeed in either the business world or in one of the professions — once you find your niche and train for it. You could do exceptionally well in art, music, literature or the theater; would also make an excellent diagnostician, lawyer or statesman. Curb a tendency to be overly critical of others. Birthdate of: Franz Josef Haydn, Austrian composer, Edward Fitzgerald, translator of the Rubaiyat.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Shanks, a genial native of Lebanon, Ind., began in TV here in the mid-1950s as an actor. He later became a "gofer," as in, "go fer coffee, kid," a talent booker, producer, writer and director.

Currently ABC's vice president for late night and dawn programs, he now has a new credit, author, having written a 306-page book called "The Cool Fire: How to Make it in Television."

It's a remarkably thorough, yet humorous explanation by an insider of how big-league television works, from what function a producer performs to network structure, from contracts to cable TV.

It even includes such things as what to expect when presenting a program idea to an advertising agency committee, "The part of it (the committee) with grey hair will do most of the talking."

"Where it is young, it will carry a manila folder and frown... it will arrange itself around a huge conference table, buffed to a shine as if waiting for the Potsdam conference rather than for the frail television idea that you are rapidly losing faith in. And the silence is deafening."

Shanks, who among other things produced "The Merv Griffin Show" for four years, got into the management side of talent for the "Tonight" show back when Jack Paar headed it.

He says he got into the how-to-make-it-in-TV book business as a result of teaching a night class about TV last year at a scholarly Fun City emporium known as the New School for Social Research.

"I was telling an editor friend of mine about the class one night and he said, 'Hey, there might be a book in that,'" Shanks recalled. He said the editor introduced him to another editor and work commenced.

"I was rather intrigued by the idea," he said. "I'd read some other books about television, and while they're valuable to a certain extent, I didn't think they were always very realistic as far as having an inside point of view."

He said he hoped to remedy that with his book, which goes on sale in April. He thinks the tome will have its biggest sales among college students who are studying broadcasting and intend to get into it.

Shanks, who joined ABC in 1972 as vice president in charge of East Coast program development, was asked if his bosses were a mite worried about one of their executives writing about the industry.

"Not at all," he said. "They were most gracious about it. That had crossed my mind, but I notified the people I should have notified about what I was doing and everyone was delighted about it."

"By now, they know all about it, and I think they're rather pleased. I really shouldn't speak on their behalf. But anyway, nobody's come in the office and said, 'Get your coat and get out.'"

Demo Candidates Turning To 'Get Carter'

NEW YORK (AP) — For almost a hour the candidates took turns suggesting remedies for the financial plight of the big cities — things like more federal aid for education, help with welfare costs, some kind of national health insurance.

Before they finished Monday night, the debate that began as a polite exchange had taken on something of a "get Carter" flavor.

The target was Jimmy Carter, winner of five of six Democratic presidential primaries. He and Sens. Henry Jackson of Washington and Frank Church of Idaho, Arizona Rep. Morris Udall and former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris talked urban troubles for 90 minutes in a forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

All but Church, who entered the race for the Democratic presidential nomination only recently, are vying with Carter for a share of the 274 delegate votes at stake in next Tuesday's primary election in New York.

Activity elsewhere Monday was at a minimum:

—Ronald Reagan, challenging President Ford for the Republican nomination, prepared to tape today a 30-minute speech to be telecast nationally by NBC at 10:30 p.m. EST Wednesday night.

Plans for the taping in Hollywood were announced shortly after Reagan persuaded NBC to reverse an earlier position and sell him 30 minutes of time, reportedly for $100,000. All three networks initially turned down his

Vandals Damage Trucks, Wall In Parish House

Vandals damaged two trucks in the city Monday night and tore a partition loose from the Parish House of the Trinity Lutheran Church, according to Circleville Police.

David Leeth, 227 E. Franklin St., reported the damage to his truck, a 1970 Ford owned by Frierer Equipment Inc., Washington C.H.

Vandals bent the west coast mirror on the right door of the truck, pried and broke the wing glass, and damaged the bottom chrome strip on the door.

The damage was inflicted apparently in an attempt to steal a mobile telephone. The unit, located inside the cab, showed marks where an attempt to pry it from its mount had been made.

Vandals sprayed red paint on the left door, door glass, and bed of a truck owned by the Van Camp Contracting Co., Route 3.

The truck, driven by John A. Owens, Ashville, was parked at the Second National Bank lot when the damage occurred.

Bob Jones, a custodian at the Trinity Lutheran Church, told police that vandals tore a partition loose from the wall of a restroom in the parish house, 135 E. Mound St. The damage apparently occurred Sunday.

—Carter said in Roanoke, Va., before heading for New York City that he regretted having said last week that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, at 64, is too old to be president. Humphrey is not an announced candidate for the Democratic nomination but has said he would accept a draft.

—Democratic National Convention planners voted to open the convention floor to all of the party's members of Congress, governors and lieutenant governors.

—In Washington, the controversy-loaded bill to revise the federal election campaign act, which would resume public financing of presidential campaigns, was cleared for House action today. A vote was not expected until Wednesday.

The Democrats' views on "Who is Responsible for the Cities" were aired before an audience of 1,000 in a Manhattan hotel ballroom. The forum was televised by the Public Broadcasting System.

Jackson proposed a big hike in federal support for education, saying that because Americans move so often — he said "40 per cent move to another state every 10 years" — states should not carry as much of the responsibility. He also favored guarantee of municipal bonds "up to three-fourths of a given issue."

Udall proposed that the cities issue small denomination bonds with the federal government "picking up 40 per cent of the interest costs." It would be an alternative to tax free bonds that cost the federal government $2.5 billion and enrich "one and a half per cent of the population."

He did not say what the new bonds would cost the federal government.

Harris proposed a national development bank that would make loans directly to the cities and "guarantee loans for housing and for small and medium-sized businesses." He blamed urban problems on "maldistribution of wealth and income and power."

Church, saying high unemployment among urban teenagers is a "time-bomb," leading to crime and drug use, proposed an "urban conservation corps." He didn't mention a price tag for the project.

The debate took on a more personal tone after Carter said he had found "real genuine affection for New York City" elsewhere in the country. The statement produced looks of surprise from the other candidates.

Carter's promise to sit down with the mayor and the governor and work out a partnership — based on recognition that the city's ills rose out of "lack of proper management" — led Jackson to comment:

"You can't go around the country making partnerships with cities. It's not just New York, there's a long list of cities that are in peril."

Udall said flatly he "wouldn't believe a single thing he (Carter) said here." Carter, Udall said, told upstate New Yorkers "he wasn't going to bail out New York City."
